Consumption of Corn in England.
[From Mr. Windom's Report.]

Mr. R. M. Windom said: The consumption of corn in England is increasing enormously. So much so that many farmers turn their attention to raising wheat, and even buy corn from America or from the Danube for consumption on their own farms to fatten cattle, for it is not yet used for human food. A very little in Ireland, perhaps, but not at all in England. In England up to recent years corn was scarcely used at all, but has increased in consumption much. The London Omnibus Company have about eight thousand horses, and they have always fed them on oats, there being a prejudice in their favor, but if oats are dear the company pays no dividend, the consumption is so enormous. Some years ago they turned their attention to corn, and it answers admirably. It saved them £16,000 in one year, because the corn was cheap, or about $80,000. This they saved in the single item of feed to their horses, but that was chiefly in American corn and during a year when it was very low. Corn is also now greatly used in distilling, starch making, and especially in feeding hogs. If corn could be sent to England a little cheaper there is no limit to the consumption of it. One reason of that is the change in the articles of food among the English population. They now consume, I suppose, three or four times as much animal food as twenty years ago. The habits of the people have changed. For the last ten or twelve years we can not afford to pack beef in England. I suppose for fifteen years, not for 20 years, can we afford to pack pork, because the price of the fresh meat is so large, the population being large and the country very small, and it is difficult to export fresh beef from America, but salt provisions can be exported. A large consumption of animal food has created in England an immense demand for feeding stuffs, especially for corn, which has become a favorite. I think that in England the consumption of corn is about 50,000,000 bushels a year, a mere trifle. I have no doubt that it would be quadrupled if corn were to come down something in price, for corn is the cheapest feeding cereal we have. Turnips are cheaper, but do not answer all the purposes of course. If corn was cheaper still, it would supersede the barley and oats, which are used to a certain extent. The following are the shipments of corn from Chicago, taken from a table furnished Windom's committee by Charles Randolph, esq., Secretary of the Board of Trade of Chicago:

Year	1869	1870	1871	1872
21,586,808 bushels.

Humorous.
Schoolmistress—"Johnny, I'm ashamed of you! When I was your age I could read as well as I can now." "Aw, but you'd a different teacher to what we've got."
"What's your play pucker?" remarked an almond-eyed denizen of Tucson, Nevada, the other day. "He hold four klongs and a lac; Mexican was hold all same time four laces and a klong; whole week washee gone like wood-bine."
A boy was asked which was the greater evil, hurting another's feelings or his finger. "The feelings," he said. "Right, my dear child," said the gratified priest; "and why is it worse to hurt the feelings?" "Because you can't tie a rag round them," exclaimed the child.
"Young man," said the revivalist, addressing the swearer, "how hot do you suppose hell is?" The workman roared at his questioner, and placing his arms akimbo, and looking him squarely in the face, said, "Well, Mr. Finney, I suppose it's so hot there that if somebody brought you a spoonful of melted iron you'd swear 'twas ice-cream." Mr. Finney had nothing more to say.

After witnessing the other night in this city a play divided into five acts, the intermission between which he had evidently improved, a gentleman riding in one of the street cars got to his feet, straightened his legs as well as he could, adjusted his hat, looked up and measured for an instant the distance to the bell strap, made a dive for it, caught it at the third attempt, put his entire weight on it, and of course rang the bells violently. "Here! here! what's the matter with yer?" yelled the conductor. "What are yer ringing the bell at both ends for?" "B'cause," replied the passenger, with great contempt, "because (hie) I want both ends of the (hie) car to stop."—N. Y. Evening Post.

SENATOR BOUTWELL has not lessened his unpopularity in Massachusetts by his partisan attack upon Senator Bayard. The Boston Globe lectures him in this sensible way: "Men of plain common sense know that Mr. Bayard, Mr. Tilden, Mr. Thurman, and other Democratic leaders of the North are not enemies of the Union, and would never be allies if any body plotted against the government; and they do not believe that Mr. Gordon, Mr. Withers, and other Democratic leaders of the South are co-spirators against the life of nation. We have advanced since 1861. Slavery is dead, and there is hardly a man of prominence, North or South, who does not rejoice at it. There are few who have any motive for hostility to the Union, and there is no evidence that they entertain it. The wild rant of Mr. Boutwell was utterly without reason."

ENCOURAGE HOME MANUFACTURE.
I am now manufacturing a good and cheap PAINT, of several colors, the body of which is equal to Lead and Oil, which for lin roofs, barns, stables, fences, &c., will be found very suitable as well as economical, and an improvement over other cheap mixed Paints now in the market. For brick walls with a northern ex-posure it will act as a preventive to dampness.
For iron it makes a solid and lasting coating, impervious to moisture and a preventive of rust.
Being of various shades of color, the cornice and trimmings can be painted to suit. This Paint has been used by one railroad company and by many of the farmers in this vicinity, and is highly recommended by all who have tried it.
Price, single gallon, 75c. 10 gallons, $5.00 per gal.
1 bbl., or 40 gallons, $30.00 per gal. Call and examine samples at 85 King St., under Supt. Hall. mh 31 W. F. CREIGHTON.

THE BALTIMORE READY MIXED PAINT—the best and cheapest ready mixed Paint extant. In color it is a rich, dark, reddish brown. It is especially adapted for painting railroad depot buildings and station houses, brick walls, weather boarding, iron work, fences, barns, stables, dairies and other out-buildings. It is also a capital roofing Paint for either wood or metal. Price per gallon $1.20, in 10 gallon lots $1 per gallon, or in 40 gallon lots 90c per gallon. Shipped to the country in any quantity desired. This Paint has been in use in Baltimore for over four years and with entire satisfaction to all who have tried it. We have secured the exclusive agency for this section of Virginia.
